

Dylan Robinson

age: 20

residence: Columbia, SC

education: High School

occupation: Student

marital status: Single

Balancing books, sports, and life, one reminder at a time.

Dylan is an outgoing social sports medicine student who thrives in group settings but has a packed schedule. He enjoys the shared experience of living with roommates but struggles to keep track of expenses and deadlines. He needs on frequent reminders and a consolidated interface to stay on top of payments and avoid accidentally falling behind.

Comfort With Technology

INTERNET

SOFTWARE

MOBILE APPS

SOCIAL NETWORK

Criteria For Success:

It should give him a clear, at-a-glance overview of what he owes and when he owes it in a straightforward, non-overwhelming format.

Needs

- Clear expense tracking and visibility
- Simple payment logging and splitting
- Timely, attention-grabbing reminders

Values

- Strong communication and transparency
- To be seen as responsible and reliable
- Balance between social life and academics

Wants

- Customizable reminder settings
- Notification for roommate payment status
- Quick expense summary overview

Fears

- Forgetting important payments or deadlines
- Causing tension with roommates over money
- Feeling overwhelmed by administrative tasks

Emily Parish

age: 19

residence: Columbia, SC

education: High School

occupation: Student

marital status: Single

Art, not people.

Emily is a quiet, introverted art major who prefers to avoid confrontation and values peace in her living space. She's easily overwhelmed by awkward or direct interactions, especially when it comes to finances, and would prefer a more impersonal method of tracking expenses. The app should help her manage and split bills without requiring her to engage in uncomfortable conversations with her roommates.

Comfort With Technology

INTERNET

SOFTWARE

MOBILE APPS

SOCIAL NETWORK

Criteria For Success:

The app should allow Emily to track and pay her share of household expenses without any direct interaction or uncomfortable conversations. She needs a stress-free experience with minimal social pressure. The app must send frequent reminders to help her avoid the embarrassment of paying late.

Needs

- Easy expense-sharing with no interaction
- Visual notifications, not direct messages
- Clear expense reminders

Wants

- Ability to settle bills without confrontation
- No additional social features
- Escalating reminder frequency for payments near due

Values

- Privacy and personal space
- Avoiding conflict and tension
- Artistic and creative expression

Fears

- Confrontation over unpaid bills
- Causing discomfort in social situations
- Being judged for not paying on time

John Jameson

age: 20

residence: Columbia, SC

education: High School

occupation: Student

marital status: Single

Let's get things done!

John is an organized, proactive engineering student who loves taking charge of group tasks like grocery runs and chore charts. He values reliability and feels frustrated when his roommates aren't on top of their shared financial responsibilities. The app should keep everyone accountable by clearly showing what each person owes and when they need to pay, minimizing any confusion or late payments.

Comfort With Technology

INTERNET

SOFTWARE

MOBILE APPS

SOCIAL NETWORK

Criteria For Success:

The app should provide an organized system to clearly display who owes what and when, with automatic reminders for overdue payments. It needs to help keep everyone accountable without John having to take on the responsibility of tracking payments for others. It should also reduce any confusion and prevent missed payments.

Needs

- Clear, organized breakdown of expenses
- Timely, visible reminders for roommates
- Shared payment deadlines and responsibilities

Values

- Efficiency and reliability
- Personal accountability in group settings
- Clear communication and structure

Wants

- An easy way to track who owes what
- Alerts for overdue or missed payments
- Option to set recurring bills or payments

Fears

- Roommates neglecting their payment responsibilities
- Financial misunderstandings creating tension
- Unclear or missed deadlines leading to chaos

